

RABC Recognized Reflexology Educational Study

Completing a minimum of 40 hours of classroom study of foot or hand reflexology, along with the minimum of 60 hours of practicum means you may apply to write the RABC Proficiency Examinations.

A minimum mark of 80% is required on both the written RABC exam and on the practical RABC exam in order to apply to RABC for the professional membership designation of an RABC Approved Reflexology Practitioner.

Below, under the heading, “Reflexology Education Study”, is a list of contacts providing reflexology educational study who have been identified as meeting the RABC course hour requirements (a minimum of 40 hours classroom, and 60 hours of practicum); however, the list may not be up to date, and therefore RABC would still need to verify before giving final approval for you to write the RABC Proficiency Examinations.

Please note: If your place of study is not listed, please email your certificate(s) and a transcript from the place of study showing your classroom and practicum hours to RABC’s email for verification. Email RABC: enquiry@reflexologyofbc.com

If your application has been approved to write the RABC Proficiency Examinations, you may first want to take a refresher course from an RABC Reflexology Teacher, before writing the RABC Proficiency Examinations.
